Architecture of a PHP Web Application Three tier architecture: 1. Client (browser) 2. Windows/IIS web server Web Page 3. iSeries database server containing HTML, Client CSS, JavaScript (web browser) Request Response Internet Information Server (IIS) Configured for PHP: Windows Request for .php files are passed to the (web server) PHP processor PHP returns pure HTML to IIS IIS responds with HTML to the browser. PHP Script (i.e. Your code) Combination of HTML + embedded PHP code + embedded SQL (stored procedure calls) iSeries Access ODBC driver Allows Windows apps to run SQL against iSeries database iSeries (database server) DB2/400 RPG programs SQL stored called as stored Your legacy procedures procedures database files